Lodging & Food

Lodging

Volunteers will be housed in furnished mobile container housing units provided by the school. Each unit is divided into two private bedrooms, with shared common areas in the center, including a fully equipped kitchen and a bathroom with shower facilities. Housing includes hot and cold running water, air conditioning, and reliable electricity. Each unit is fully furnished and designed to provide a comfortable living environment for volunteers. Wireless internet (Wi-Fi) is available in the housing area for academic, communication, and personal use. Volunteers will share common living spaces such as the kitchen and bathroom, while maintaining private sleeping rooms. Same-gender housing is provided.

Food

During weekdays, meals are available through the Public School System (PSS) meal program. Breakfast and lunch are provided on school days, and volunteers are welcome to participate. Since many students do not regularly utilize these meals, availability is generally sufficient. In addition to the school meal program, volunteers receive a monthly living allowance of $500 to assist with personal food purchases and other basic expenses.

Volunteers may also prepare their own meals using the fully equipped kitchen provided in the housing units, which includes standard cooking appliances and utensils. This combination of school-provided meals, monthly allowance, and cooking facilities helps ensure that volunteers have flexible and reliable access to food throughout their service period.

Restrictions:

School-provided housing is located in mobile container units and is not specifically designed for individuals with mobility impairments. There are stairs and elevated entrances, and wheelchair-accessible facilities are not available. Housing is provided on a shared basis with same-gender accommodations. Volunteers are expected to respect housing policies and community standards. Volunteers with special medical, physical, or accessibility needs are encouraged to communicate with the administration in advance to determine suitability.
